Governance

Ten challenges in improving quality in healthcare: lessons from the Health Foundation's programme evaluations and relevant literature

Development of a set of process and structure indicators for palliative care: the Europall project

Encouraging nurses to develop effective electronic documentation:
it is important for front line staff to take a leading role in translating paper-based record-keeping into fit-for-purpose digital file systems
Procter, P. & Woodburn, I. Nursing Management (Harrow), 2012, vol. 19, no. 6, p.22-26

Perspectives on shared decision making in health care
Tingle, J. British Journal of Nursing, 2012, vol. 21, no. 11, p. 1042-1043

Hourly rounding in a high-dependency unit

Smother, faster...
On the importance of thorough and effective handovers
Dean, E. Nursing Standard, 2012, vol. 26, no. 52, p. 16-19

How to ensure patient safety in drug dose calculation

New guidance on the insertion of balloon gastronomy

Evaluation of mental health recovery and Wellness Recovery Action Planning education in Ireland: a mixed methods pre-postevaluation

Estimating length of stay in publicly-funded residential and nursing care homes: a retrospective analysis using linked administrative data sets
Governance (continued)

Managing diabetes in older people needs special care

Quality indicators to measure end-of-life care
On the need for district nurses to demonstrate effectiveness by using quality indicators

Using Rapid Spread to improve hospital nutrition

Accountability in midwifery practice: answerable to the employer

What is quality in maternal and neonatal health care?

Evidence-based practice in COPD community nursing

Leadership

Systems and processes that ensure high quality care
Why organisations must ensure that their governance systems foster effective leadership and encourage staff engagement
Bassett, S. & Westmore, K. Nursing Management (Harrow), 2012, vol. 19, no. 6, p.18-21

Take the frustration out of aspiration
A foundation degree course is offering leadership skills to previously neglected junior and middle managers

Statutory supervision: achieving the balance

Workforce

Specialist nurses improve outcomes in heart failure

Exploring advanced nursing practice: past, present and future

Please note that NIPEC is not responsible for the content of external internet sites
Workforce (continued)

`This is Nursing': an initiative to reshape the vision of nursing
Glasper, A. British Journal of Nursing, 2012, vol. 21, no. 18, p. 1104-1105

The transition of newly licensed nurses into the workforce: implementing a designated transition unit in a community hospital healthcare system

Why healthcare organisations must look after their staff
Valued and engaged employees deliver better patient outcomes and have lower sickness absence rates
Black, C. Nursing Management (Harrow), 2012, vol. 19, no. 6, p.27-31

Who assesses the physical health of inpatients?

Policy/Strategy

A strategy to improve the health of children and young people
Glasper, A. British Journal of Nursing, 2012, vol. 21, no. 11, p. 1040-1041

Government launches suicide prevention strategy
Six areas for action have been identified
Hammond, B. Mental Health Practice, 2012, vol. 16, no. 2, p. 8

Education/Development

The Study of Nursing Care project: back to the future for contemporary nursing research?
Australian article exploring the impact of the Study of Nursing Care (a UK initiative from the late 1970s) on nursing research, and whether it presents a useful model for contemporary nursing

Developing a clinical academic career pathway for nursing
Coombs, M. British Journal of Nursing, 2012, vol. 21, no. 18, p. 1084-1090

“Beam me up, Scotty” – designing the future of nursing professional development

Service user involvement in nursing students' training: how clients are helping to challenge views on mental illness

Please note that NIPEC is not responsible for the content of external internet sites
Education/Development (continued)

Teaching and learning: from staff nurse to nurse consultant. Part 7: Teaching a skill
Fowler, J. British Journal of Nursing, 2012, vol. 21, no. 11, p. 1045-1045

Teaching and Learning: from staff nurse to nurse consultant. Part 8: Mentoring students
Fowler, J. British Journal of Nursing, 2012, vol. 21, no. 18, p. 1108

Humanising values at the heart of nurse education

Education and employment characteristics of nurse preceptors

A collaborative approach to support trainee sign-off mentors

Comparing midwife-led and doctor-led maternity care: a systematic review of reviews

EMDR for post-traumatic stress and other psychological trauma

Ten types of breast cancer?

Preparedness of newly qualified midwives to deliver clinical care
An evaluation of pre-registration midwifery education through an analysis of key events

Now available online at http://www.fons.org/library/journal/volume2-issue2 (requires free registration). Contents include:

- Unravelling the consequence of practice development: an exploration of the experiences of healthcare practitioners
- How are you feeling? A community poetry project for stroke survivors in Sussex
- How can we assess pain in people who have difficulty communicating? A practice development project identifying a pain assessment tools for acute care
- A comparison of ‘combined stroke units’ and their benefits within Europe and the United Kingdom
- Mind your language: lessons for practice development
- Being inspired by innovative nurses.

Please note that NIPEC is not responsible for the content of external internet sites
Patient Experience

Exercise scheme reduces risk of falls
Nursing Standard, 2012, vol. 27, no. 5, p. 8

Raising awareness of patient dignity

Transition from child and adolescent to adult mental health services

Learning to live with diabetes - integrating an illness or objectifying a disease

The cost of cancer

Supporting people living with and beyond cancer

Looks good enough to eat
Use of picture menus in Northumbria Healthcare Foundation Trust is helping patients with cognitive and physical conditions choose meals more easily

Reduce the pressure
A campaign to eliminate avoidable pressure sores is having dramatic results
Moore, A. Nursing Standard, 2012, vol. 27, no. 9, p. 18-20

Responding to vulnerability in old age: patient-centred care

The need to consider end-of-life care for homeless people

Every day is like Monday
Seven day services can mean improved quality and outcomes in respiratory care

Do the small things well
On the ‘enhanced recovery’ model to help patients return to normal as soon as possible after surgery

Place of birth

Please note that NIPEC is not responsible for the content of external internet sites